PLW IFLTM - Incoherent Fast Light - is the revolutionary technology that exploits the potential of the source with variable, non-collimated emission. Thanks to the extraordinary characteristics of the new source (Novavision proprietary technology), the light beam can be calibrated to concentrate the energy emission on specific wavelengths, according to the treatment. These frequencies allow the energy to effectively and precisely reach the target chromophore, avoiding unnecessary dispersion and improving the final result. The speed at which the light source is emitted allows up to 21 cm2 of tissue to be treated per second. This makes PLW IFL™ the technology you need to perform permanent photoepilation treatments in an effective, fast and painless manner. This treatment is also effective on dark and tanned phototypes.
